DOMESTIC ABUSE AND HOMELESSNESS

If you or someone you know is suffering from domestic abuse, there is help available. This advice looks at what you can do if you are unable to stay in your home because of domestic abuse.

WHAT IS DOMESTIC ABUSE?

Domestic abuse includes any incident of threatening behaviour, violence or abuse. The abuse can be psychological, physical, social, financial, or emotional. Domestic abuse can happen between two people who are or were intimate partners or family members, regardless of their gender or sexuality.

If you are in fear of a partner, ex-partner or member of your family, you might be experiencing domestic abuse. Does your partner or a member of your family often:

- Call you names and make you feel bad about yourself?
- Make you afraid by threatening you or your children?
- Behave violently towards you?
- Stop you seeing your friends or family?
- Keep you without money?
- Harm you or make you feel you could be seriously harmed?

If the answer to some of these questions is yes you might be experiencing domestic abuse.

LEAVING HOME IMMEDIATELY

If you feel you are at risk of harm there are alternatives you could explore such as the Sanctuary Scheme which can carry out safety works in your home such as changing locks, fire proof letter boxes and panic rooms. You can access this free service by speaking to your housing options advisor, housing association or the police. If, however, you think you need leave your home, try to arrange temporary housing from the council before you leave.

Not everyone leaving home due to violence is entitled to emergency accommodation.

You could stay with friends or relatives (if this is a safe option) while you think about what to do next. If you're a woman leaving domestic abuse, try to find a place in a women's refuge where additional support is available through being assigned your own support worker, who assesses your current and future needs including rehousing.

Take some essentials with you such as a change of clothes, toiletries and any medication you need to take regularly. Try to bring important items if they are available, such as proof of benefits, National Insurance Number, birth certificate for you and your family, photo ID/eligibility proof (if you are not originally from the UK), your passport, bank and credit cards and mobile phone.

Don't make a decision to give up your home permanently until you have spoken to an adviser and considered all your options.
